Band Biography

Mid-Life Crisis is a popular 8 piece West Michigan band which performs with a full horn section and features six different singers. Loving music from the 60's and 70's, they have opened up for many national bands such as America, Blood Sweat and Tears, Three Dog Night, Edgar Winter, Marshall Tucker Band and Eddie Money.

MLC has a very large West Michigan following, and has been named "Best Band In Grand Rapids" four years in a row by the Grand Rapids Magazine. They earned a "Golden Townie" Award for best band in Grand Rapids by "On-The-Town" magazine.

The band is comprised of business and community leaders with diverse day jobs, including a doctor, banker, marketing professional, newspaper general manager, plastics sales, kitchen designer, health care mechanic and polish butcher!

MLC has delighted crowds for 7 years at festivals, live concerts, corporate events, private parties and local clubs. They are especially proud of their full-length album, titled "It's All Good." The album is all original music and features songs about their own mid-life crises! MLC also enjoys recording with other local artists and being an active member of the local music scene and charitable music projects.
